Wilmington Backward in Street Development?

Town Engineer Arthur Harding expressed some opinions of the development of streets in Wilmington, during the Tuesday night meeting of the Planning Board.

He had not intended to, and he was somewhat surprised to find himself telling his thoughts. The criticism evolved as a result of the Planning Board's study of the proposed streets for Allan Estates, which is to be the Jackson Brothers newest real estate development, down near Maple Meadow Brook and near Lowell Street.

Harding had no criticism of the streets that are constructed under the jurisdiction of the Planning Board. It was the older streets in town of which he was talking.

One of the streets to which he pointed was West Street, on both sides of Lowell Street.

Pointing to an 'easement' of a dozen or more years ago, for a water main near the 'Deacon's Curve' Harding told the Board that the town should have done something to this area in the past 15 years - but hadn't.

A little further northward, just south of Kilmarnock St. he pointed to the narrow road, with a field to the eastward. In a half a dozen years, he told the Planning Board, there will probably be homes there and then it will be too late to widen the street.

Still further to the north, he said, were two telephone poles, close to the street. There was plenty of room to move them back and widen the street, but they remain there, a menace to automobiles.

He pointed to other places in Wilmington too, in his discourse. Then he referred to the practices in the Town of Wakefield, where he had once served as a Junior Engineer.

'Down in Wakefield' he told the Planning Board, the Board of Public Works is elected. Those fellows are on their toes. They get out and fight for an opportunity to widen and improve the streets of the town - every chance they get!

'Here in Wilmington you get in trouble when you try to improve a narrow street like Clark Street.'

The Planning Board spent an hour with Edsel Tocci and residents of the Hansen Road area, discussing drainage problems. Mr Tocci is to meet with the Town Engineer to go over plans which are expected to solve the problems.

Tocci told the Planning Board that he expects to have his development in that area completed in August.

In discussions about current work projects Emil Berger, Secretary, told the board that Professor Elliot of Harvard has finished about 80% of his Land Use Study, as of March 20th.

Berger also told the Board that he (Berger) had completed his study of By Laws for the Planning Board, but that he still needs some rules and regulations with relation to the Town Engineer.

Austin Rounds, who is in charge of a work project for some High School children, reported progress and felt that the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce might want to sponsor the project.

The board turned down the preliminary plans for Allan Park, (referred to above), after some study. The Jackson Brothers will have to resubmit plans.

MAPC

Mrs Madelyn McKie reported on her session with the Massachusetts Area Planning Council, last Thursday, about which she had been worrying last week.

She had arrived at the meeting to find that other delegates were also upset at the small amount of time allocated for the study of Solid Waste Disposal proposals.

The delegate from Scituate, she said, moved to delay the consideration of the project, she reported, and she seconded the motion, which was then voted. The professional staff was not happy about this.

She had sat between MDC Commissioner Howard Whittemore and Professor Elliot, and the two men had kept up a continual conversation. When she offered to swap seats with one of them they would not allow it.

Mr Whittemore, she said, had been against an extension of the MDC area for Solid Waste Disposal, and had wanted her to make a motion to this effect, which she did not.

She found that the delegates were broadly divided into two segments on the proposals for waste disposal policies. Those from the cities were broadly in favor, and those from the outlying communities were not.

She felt that there would probably be a vote in the next meeting (today) and it will probably be on General Policy, and not on specific proposals. Mrs. McKie reported that she would probably vote in favor.

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208 Wilmington, or call 657-7141, or 658-4865 after five. If I'm not there, I'll call you.

Here it is spring - and the mud is subsiding down in front of my home - and you can get down the street if you're careful. It's been the Pogo Stick for the last couple of weeks - the price one pays for having a street that is owned by the abutments and not accepted by the town.

A note from Ruth Wood says that Ariel still has another two weeks in the hospital, and that your cards have been a real joy to him. 200 cards from here - you folks certainly have done well by him. He appreciates it, and I do too. Thanks a lot.

Kenny Paglia writes from Germany. He has had some time in Viet Nam recently, and he says it was awful. The Town Crier helped, because it told him what was going on at home.

'Every time I get a Town Crier I see that someone else has gone into service, or is about to go'.

Kenney says that the fellows should learn everything they can, while they go through training, because they may need it. He is glad he did, for he used a lot of that stuff while he was in Viet Nam.

He really misses the old home town, and just can't wait to get home again.

Mrs Barbara Dayton, Girl Scout Neighborhood Chairman, writes: 'May I as Neighborhood Chairman extend sincere thanks to all the parents who helped to make a terrific Girl Scout Sunday, in Wilmington and Tewksbury, which constitute the Baldwin Neighborhood. The Church attendance of the Girl Scouts and their Leaders was outstanding'.

A letter from Gary Balsar, in Viet Nam. Gary is the young man who likes Peanut Butter.

He says the girls in Webster Thomas, in Boston, where his dad works, heard about it and they are going to send Gary some Peanut Butter, right from the shop!

He met Jimmy Graham the other day. Gary is an Air Force cook and Jimmy was coming down the Chow Line, and spotted Gary.

Gary works in temperatures that range from 95 to 103, and the mess that he has serves over 2000 meals. 'You should see a bunch of cooks at work serving a meal that big!'

They serve turkey dinners with the fixings on occasion, and 'state-side' ice cream. They also make their own ice cream, 80 to 100 gallons at a time.

There is a PX on the base, but it isn't much, Gary says. The thing the fellows seem to miss most is reading material - and especially funny pictures, and cartoon books.

Letters get over to Viet Nam in about four days, and it takes the Town Crier 12 days to get to him.

So far he hasn't seen anything of the VCs, but they are waiting. A new 10,000 foot runway was just finished and a new squadron of F-100s is due soon.

The population at the base is about 5100, including the army units. Everything is quiet, and Gary had one parting thought - a Happy Anniversary to his mother and dad, who will be having their 25th on April 9th.

Just before the ice and snow left, about two weeks ago, Boy Scouts of Troop 56, at the Congregational Church went down into Maple Meadow (downstream from Lowell St.) to put in some wood-duck nests.

The idea is you stand on the ice, and chop a hole through. Then you put in a sturdy pole, driving it down into the mud, on top of which you put a covered box, which Mr and Mrs Wood Duck find very congenial for house keeping purposes, when they return from the south.

But the Boy Scouts had more than they bargained for. Instead of just chopping one hole for each nest they had to chop two, and there was a foot of water between the two layers of ice.

But nobody got seriously wet, and the new wood-duck homes are in place awaiting tenants.

It's good to hear that Beulah Barrows is up and about again. The spring weather should help everyone. We certainly had our share of Winter in March, this year.

The girls in Troop 215, Girl Scouts have sent a note, via Pam Bacon, the Troop Scribe. People gave them so many papers that they made $130 on their paper drive and they wish me to thank all of you for the effort you put in. You're a great group!

Joe Woods, I am happy to say, is recovering, in St. John's Hospital, but expects to stay there for another week.

What's doing down in Mike Weinberg's Store?? He has my curiosity up in the air!

Mrs. Barbara Dayton of the Girl Scouts called and said that there is a conservation workshop on the 25th from 9:30 to 2 at Camp Runnels. This will be run by the Littleton and Groton Conservation Commissions. The whole 'neighborhood' of scouts voted to go, since this is during vacation. On the 27th there will be a dinner meeting for the Council at 6:30 at the Burrows Restaurant in Andover. The dinner is $3. This is open to anyone who is interested. If you wish further information on this, please call Mrs. Dayton at 658-2583.

Phyllis O'Leary of Swain Road attended the spring conference of the Savings Bank Women of America at the Statler Hilton in Boston last Thursday and Friday.

She is the manager of the mortgage service department of the Suffolk Franklin Savings Bank.

Selectmen's Meeting

Madelyn McKie appeared before the Board of Selectmen, at its Monday night meeting to ask how she should vote, at the Massachusetts Area Planning Council, regarding regional facilities for incinerators and/or sanitary land fill. Mrs McKie told the Selectmen that there was a lack of enthusiasm on the part of Commissioner Howard Whitmore of the MDC to extend these facilities.

Paul Niles told her that with legislation to this effect there would not be much opportunity to oppose and George Boylen presented a motion to vote 'No', which carried 4 to 1.

Charles Black said that the town couldn't oppose it when it was talking incinerator last year. He did not feel that the town should vote No. Niles said he was not opposed to sanitary land fill, but that he preferred to have his say as to where it would go, in the town itself, and not have some outside committee locate it.

Chairman Miceli then told Mrs McKie, who is on the Planning Board, that there is a subdivision in town where the drainage is 'very inadequate'. He said that 3 or 4 cellars and septic systems were overflowing on Sunday, and that he had called the engineers and the fire department, and the health department. The fire department was still pumping, Miceli said, and two septic systems had to be replaced. There must be a bond existing, and he wanted it called to the attention of the Planning Board.

Garden Avenue
 Residents of Garden Avenue were at the meeting, to see what could be done about the muddy condition of that street. Paul Elmstrom acted as spokesman.
 Children use Garden Avenue on their way to the Glen Road school and the condition is terrible, the Selectmen were told, with water and mud.

When the discussion turned to improving the street under the Betterment Plan, the residents were told that it would cost $2000 for a 100 foot frontage, and Miceli said he sympathized with them personally, because he had been through the same thing when he came to town, but there wasn't a thing that the Selectmen could do but advise them about Betterments.

Miceli said however, that sidewalks had been included in the Betterments, and he would suggest that they apply both ways.

One inquiry was if there would be an increase in assessments when the betterments were finished. Niles said that the property would be of greater value then. Black said that the price of $20 a foot seemed high, and asked Melzar to look into it.

Robert Kelly asked if Garden Avenue would then receive the same benefits as other streets in town, if their street was a public way. It seems that the street was not plowed on two occasions last winter until after 24 hours after other streets, and that the residents lost a couple of days work as a result.

There was an agreement that the people on the street would buy some gravel, and that the town would spread it now, and that an investigation will be made of their betterments by Miceli and Melzar. Bob Murphy and John Monson from Kilby Street were also present at the meeting, but they said that Kilby Street on the other side of King Street had been graded and scraped. Kilby Street will also be the subject of an investigation.

Traffic Signs

Chief of Police Paul J Lynch appeared to report that signs had been put up on the Private Way at Carter Lane, and that the police would patrol and enforce the orders of the Selectmen. He said he still did not see the need of barriers at the present time, because it was just townspeople using the street, and it was just a matter of training them.

Lynch told the Selectmen that a 'Do Not Enter' traffic sign was scheduled to be posted Tuesday on the corner of Middlesex Ave and Church Street, at the head of the Common.

Fred Arsenault, who was in the meeting room, deplored the fact that there were no sidewalks near the new West School, for the children to use. Boylen asked if sidewalks, when used for a school, were not re-imbursable by the state, and Niles said he believed so.

The discussion turned to Boutwell Street, and how terrible it was. Mrs Drew said it was a terrible street for the children to walk on, and Boylen and Lynch agreed.

Employee Rating

Town Counsel Alan I Altman then discussed with the board the status of town employees, as to 'regular' (i.e. full time) or 'special' (part-time) status, with reference to the Conflict of Interest Law. A list which he presented was taken under advisement.

Mrs McKie suggested that all full time and part time personnel get a copy of the list, so that they would know how they were classified.

There was a question as to the status, in this respect, of the Redevelopment Authority, and the Housing Authority. This will be investigated.

Valuation Book

The Selectmen voted to have a book printed, showing the 1966 Real Estate Valuations. Fred Arsenault protested that this was unfair. He was interested in the 1965 valuations, and thought that two books should be printed. He was told that only $2000 had been appropriated, and the board decided that the 1966 valuations would be carried in the book.

Railroad Bridges

Rep. Fred Cain told the Selectmen that he had been discussing with the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development the possibilities of getting money for four new bridges over the B&M in Wilmington.

He had written, and had also visited the HUD office in New York and had discussed the problems with Juday Gribetz, the Regional Administrator. Arrangements had been made for architectural drawings for four new bridges, Bridge Lane, Shawsheen Avenue, Burlington Avenue, and Butters Row.

The Nichols Street Bridge would be built this year, Cain believed.

Money has been set aside by the state for new bridges over the railroad at Shawsheen Avenue and Burlington Avenue, Cain told the Selectmen, but the state is unable to proceed on these two bridges because of traffic and engineering problems.

One of these problems is the height of the Rte 62 Bridge (Burlington Avenue) over the railroad. If it is to be rebuilt it will have to be raised three feet higher over the railroad track, and this is complicated because of the present hill.

There has been talk of rerouting Routes 62, and 129, Cain told the Selectmen, to cross the railroad somewhere near the Gildart Garage, and having a road go through to Shawsheen Avenue on the other side of the tracks from Main St.

Cain, speaking of the Woburn St. Bridge, (just over the line in Woburn) and the Eames Street bridge, thought that the costs for new bridges could be taken care of by Federal funds. He felt that the Federal government would allow this in view of the commercial development going on in the vicinity.

Charles Black cautioned that if the town spent any money on the bridges 'one cent', those bridges would then become the town's responsibility, instead of being the responsibility of the railroad.

Cain said the B&M wasn't interested in spending any money on the bridges. Melzar said it had recently been replanking them.

Cain said if new bridges were built by the Federal government they would be permanent structures, and the only expense to town would be the plowing of them.

Cain left application forms for the Selectmen and Town Manager to fill out, leading towards a possible grant by HUD, and further generously offered to assist in any way.

Park Street Bridge

Chairman Miceli reported that the State DPW had been out to look at the Park Street bridge over Route 93, last Friday. They had

'INHERIT THE WIND'

WILMINGTON RESIDENTS: Were treated to a powerful presentation of the Scopes Trial of 1925, as re-enacted in a play called 'Inherit the Wind' last weekend. The actors were members of the St. Thomas CYO with Michael Cairra and John Shemkus having the lead roles, those of William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow.

The photograph shows the last part of the last act, just before the death of Bryan. Cairra is at left, and Shemkus as right. At far left are the members of the jury.

Library Board

rant. Gubellini reiterated: Not authorized by the Board of Trustees! Mrs Norton: Because we did not have them!

Mr Buzzell then said that he had made it clear in a meeting that it was his intention to oppose, and that he would oppose on the floor of the Town Meeting.

After a little more discussion Gubellini said: 'To say that the Board of Trustees were denied is incorrect - I never heard of them, the articles, or the intention of the articles.'

Mrs Norton began to talk of the December meeting.

Gubellini: Set it straight by saying clearly that the Library Articles were not denied -

Mrs Norton: Legally you are right, - but ethically I question it!

Mrs Neilson then described the December meeting, saying that Mrs Norton had moved the three articles, and Mr Bachman had seconded them, and that she herself had not voted in favor.

Gubellini: At a meeting with the Permanent Building Committee we made it clear that no determination had been made. I have a clear picture of no articles being sponsored by the Board of Trustees.

Barry: (Now on the Finance Committee - then on the Board of Trustees) - That's the way I remember it.

Mrs Norton: The Walker School site is still on the record.

Mrs Neilson: It was not a powerful vote in December.

Gubellini: Alright, let's forget the past.

Other Business

The Trustees listened to a discussion on new libraries, by Miss Mary Bergerella, of the Massachusetts Bureau of Library Extensions for the first hour of their meeting.

Present at the meeting was Mr. Connors, formerly Librarian of Salem New Hampshire, and now Librarian of Wilmington. Mr. Connors told of the library in that town.

Miss Bergerella told the Board that they should plan for 20 years time, and that in the long run this was much less expensive. Some towns, she said, plan well ahead and then build in two stages. Other towns have built small libraries and then were sorry that the building was not large enough.

She related how the circulation of the Hingham Library had jumped 50% when more space was available.

The board is to meet again on April 24th, starting at 7:30 pm. Mrs Flynn of the Bureau of Library Extensions may be present at that time. The board members will have copies of the Sam Snow report on library sites, prepared for each of them, that they may study his recommendations.

Mr Buzzell said that he would try to have a report on the latest status of the Land Court proceedings, re the St. Thomas site.

The board also decided to consider a salary review and present it to the Town Manager.

Librarian Connors complimented the board on the excellent choice of books in the Wilmington Public Library 'in spite of the congested facilities'. He thought that the 'periodic collection was weak'.

He told the Trustees that he would be in contact with the American Library Association about plans for a new library, and felt that they should spend money for a Library Consultant. He felt too that no time should be wasted. 'A new library which costs $300,000 today can cost $400,000 in three years'.

SELECTMEN
(Fr. Pg. 4)

agreed to install permanent fences and guard rails.

Merrimac Valley

The Wilmington Selectmen received a letter from the Tewksbury Selectmen, suggesting that a regional association of Merrimac Valley Boards of Selectmen be made, since Regional planning was becoming more and more necessary. This the Selectmen agreed to.

Oakwood Road

Under the heading of New Business Boylen brought up the subject of flooding of Oakwood Road, opposite to Silver Lake. A paved business parking lot, he said, was putting water on the street, and there were half a dozen families who were being inconvenienced. Melzar said the Supt. of Streets had looked at the situation, and the Selectmen decided that the Town Engineer should study it.

Boylen also brought up the subject of a differential in pay for the night janitors at the High School. He thought they were entitled to a 10% differential. He suggested that the town should have lists made if possible of what other towns pay their employees, and Miceli agreed. On motion of Charles Black the pay for the Selectmen's Clerk was raised to the same status as that of other committee clerks.

MEETING OF PROFESSIONAL
NURSES IN WOBURN

This should be most interesting and informative, we invite all registered nurses in the area to join us. For further information call 658-3544.

BOOKMOBILE WILL CALL at the Wilmington Housing Authority Monday, April 10, at 3:30 pm.

Letter

Dear Captain Neilson,

The Ipswich River comes under the scrutiny of the Division of Water Quality Control at a public hearing in Gardner Auditorium at 10 A.M. on Friday, April 14th. As a result of this hearing, the Ipswich will be classified according to possible uses and to the amount of allowable pollutants.

A description of the possible classifications is as follows:
Class A: Suitable for any high quality water use. Character uniformly excellent.

Class B: Suitable for bathing and recreational purposes. Acceptable for public water supply with appropriate treatment. Agricultural uses; excellent habitat; good aesthetic value.

Class C: Suitable for recreational boating; suitable habitat for wildlife and fish; industrial cooling and process uses; under some conditions acceptable for public water supply with appropriate treatment.

Class D: Suitable for power, navigation and certain industrial use.

The League of Women Voters of Wilmington, in agreement with the Board of Selectmen, the Planning Board, the Conservation Commission and other Leagues from other towns along the Ipswich urges support of a Class B classification for the Ipswich. Our concern stems from the fact that once a class has been set on any portion of a river, it becomes virtually impossible to have it raised to a higher class. Industrial and domestic waste water systems are constructed to meet the requirements of the class assigned. It becomes an economic hardship therefore to raise the class. Class B would allow the Ipswich to be used for recreational purposes as well as providing a pleasing environment.

The League urges all those interested in this vital matter to attend the hearing or to write your views to:

Mr. Thomas McMahon, Department of Natural Resources, Water Pollution Control Division, 14th Floor, J.F.K. Bldg., Boston Mass.

Yours,
Jeanne C. Pedersen

Can you imagine anything better than a beautiful steak . . . or golden butter melting into a creamy white baked potato . . . or satiny whipped cream on strawberry shortcake? M-M-M!

Well, then, that may be your problem if you're a little over weight . . . the very thought of it! It seems anything that makes food more interesting or better looking is the worst thing that can happen . . . if you want to lose weight, that is. One of the most unappetizing ways to lose weight is to make your food as tasteless and dull as possible. You'll eat less . . . who wouldn't.

It's even been proven that watching television while eating can up the number of calories you consume . . . too much general satisfaction. Of course, there's only one catch to all of this . . . What if you enjoy eating?

It's always better to consult a physician on any weight problem. We handle many weighty problems daily for our regular customers. Why don't you bring all your problems concerning medical supplies to us?

FROM THE BOX SEAT

The Bedell Celtics have added their second and third draft choices Mike Wright and Paul Maloney to their roster for Friday night's tussle with the Boston Patriots basketball team at the High School.

In a preliminary game at 7 P.M., two all star teams from the kids' town league will go at it. Pop Warner coaches, handling tickets, warn that waiting till the last minute may cost fans admission.

UNRESERVED

For those who think that pro footballers come from major colleges only, take a look at some of the schools tapped in this year's AFL-NFL draft: Delta State, Pomona, Defiance, Judson State, Allen, Elizabeth, Albion, Edward Waters, Alcorn A & M, Luther, Tennessee-Martin, Whitewater State, Bishop, and Kalamazoo.

Providence's Jimmy Walker has been drafted by New Orleans of the NFL and Indianapolis of the ABA. He now has two more drafts to face, the NBA's and the Selective Service come graduation this June.

It's time to get out into the backyard to start practicing your chip shots, while the wife rakes up the remainder of last fall's leaves.

More awards were given out at Howie Lafaver's Town League banquet than Bob Hope has ever seen.

If the new Boston pro soccer club wants to get off to a good start, they'd better get busy on some promotional campaigns. Local interest must be aroused with names, statistics and predictions. Don't blink your eyes during the first WHS baseball game or you're liable to miss the rest of the season. It only lasts a month.

Young Carl Backman is running a hockey team in a local spring league. The club, made up of Wilmington High Schoolers, is off to a .500 start with a win and a loss. Last Saturday was so balmy that skating and swimming were both possible for limited periods at Silver Lake.

Imagine what a club Holy Cross would have if Lew Alcindor had followed his high school coach to Worcester.

The Town League softball players can look forward to another ankle twisting summer at the Town Park. The reason the logical change to the Glen Road field won't come about this year is that the conduct of a handful of rule flouters cannot be exposed to the larger crowds, particularly children, which would frequent the more accessible school grounds. If the league sponsors, coaches and players don't care enough to do something about these clown, then it serves them right to be relegated to the 'canyon'.

It's a shame that a clutch hitter like Don Demeter must rot on the Red Sox bench.

Athletic Director Cushing would like to add wrestling to the high school's program. What's holding him back, you ask? Our hick town athletic budget, that's what.

Dozens of high school tracksters are loping about in anticipation of the starting gun for 1967 season. The recently announced High School All-America basketball team overlooked New England boys as usual.

The Baltimore Bullets finished 48 games out of first place. Not bad for an 80 game schedule, eh? I hope Harry Sinden is reading this.

Aluminum Wire this time at Camp Forty Acres

Volunteers will begin Saturday to string electric wires from Andover Street to Camp Forty Acres, the Wilmington Youth Camp in the northern part of Wilmington. Power for the lighting of the camp is to be supplied by the Lawrence Electric Light & Power.

Prior to this Camp Forty Acres has used electricity supplied by two World War II army generators with its own electrical system strung around the camp.

The wire used was of copper, and has twice been stolen. The Directors of Camp Forty Acres estimated last October, when thieves stole every bit of wire in the camp that the retail value in junk shops of the wire stolen was worth $300.

Aluminum wire, it is believed, will not be as attractive to thieves.

DIAPER RASH

One of the causes of diaper rash is detergent residue left in diapers after they are laundered.

A high incidence of rash can be cut down by using a nonwoven diaper liner inside the diaper at each change. This clean liner next to baby's tender skin acts as a barrier against the detergent residue in the diaper.
